CHINA'S WAR.

HEAVY FIGHTING.

REPORTS FROM THE NORTH.

PEKING, April 29.
There was heavy fighting all day yesterday at Tacheng, near Machang, but there are no reports from that field to-day.

The Chihli troops are also attacking near Chongchun, to the south of Langfang. Thus it appears that General Wu Pei-fu is boldly attacking the Fengtien forces' three main positions at widely distant points, but it is believed that General Wu Pei-fu sent only a holding force to the centre, hoping to smash the Fengtien resistance at Tacheng and Changshien, afterwards concentrating against Chingien.

The gunfire at Changshien can still be heard.

AMERICAN MARINES.

TIENSIN, April 29.
In spite of apparently authentic reports, General
Chang Tso-lin only arrived at Chungkingchen last night and he is at present remaining there in a train, blocking the line and delaying traffic.

One hundred and fifty American Marines from Shanghai passed through to Peking at noon.

PEKING, April 29.
Heavy fighting began at Changshien at three o'clock this morning.

General Wu Pei-fu, apparently, is launching a surprise attack.

Wounded Fengtien troops are already arriving at Peking, also straggling Fengtien troops from the field of battle.

The booming of guns can plainly be heard at the Legation quarter.

It is reported that there is fighting also at Machang and south of Langfang.

CHANG TSO-LIN PLANS.

PEKING, April 29.
General Chang Tso-lin telegraphed the Government yesterday evening reporting that he will come southward to Shanhaikuan for the purpose of inspecting his troops, and that he is leaving military affairs at Mukden in the hands of General Chiao Keng-yung, the Fengtien Chief of Staff, while Wang Yang-shing, Director of the Feng-tien Finance Bureau, will attend to civil affairs.

TIENSIN, April 29.
There was heavy artillery and rifle firing yesterday from early morning till late at night between Machang and Tacheng, but the result of the fighting is not yet known.

American officers who returned to Tientsin from Paotingfu last night report seeing large forces of Chihli troops, including about 500 carts of supplies, proceeding eastwards towards Tacheng.

PEKING, April 29.
General Feng Yu-shiang commands the Chihli force attacking Changshien, which is driving back the Feng-tien troops.

At 11 o'clock the latter had reached the Marco Polo bridge, at Lukouchia. Heavy firing is still proceeding there.

HEAVY FIGHTING.

The Fengtien forces repelled an attack southwest of Langfang, and counter attacking, occupied Kuan.

Later reports show that the Fengtien forces did not anticipate an attack by the Chihli forces at Tacheng, where the former had concentrated an attack upon two Brigades of the Twenty-Sixth Division of General Tso Kun's troops, whom they decimated, but after the arrival of General Wu Pei-fu's own troops, fighting was heavily renewed this morning.

Large numbers of wounded Fengtien troops passed through Tientsin to-day, but nothing decisive is reported.
The battle is now raging at three points with a vigor unusual in Chinese engagements.

MARTIAL LAW AT PEKING.

PEKING, April 30.
There was merely gunfire between the advanced artillery at Changshien to-day, both sides maintaining their yesterday's positions.

No fighting is reported on the east and middle fronts, but there are heavy concentration of Chihli forces on the northern sections of the Peking-Hankow Railway, with heavier reinforcements of Fengtien troops by rail at this point, and there is imminence of heavier fighting.

Later,
Martial law was proclaimed at Peking, and the city gates were re-opened yesterday afternoon.

Later,
General Wu Pei-fu has arrived at Chuchow; from where he is directing operations.
The Fengtien high command is quartered outside Tientsin.

PROPAGANDA BOMB.

TIENSIN, April 30.
A Chihli aeroplane yesterday dropped a bomb at Fengtai, which did not inflict any damage, but the bomb contained propaganda leaflets denouncing General Chang Tso-lin, and stating that Kiri and Heilung-chiang had declared their independence.

TIENSIN, April 30.
The reports in the newspapers of large numbers of wounded having arrived are not confirmed by the railway officials, who state that very few wounded so far have reached Tientsin.

CASUALTIES VERY SMALL.

PEKING, April 29.
The casualties at Changshien to-day appear to be very small compared with the heavy firing, which lasted till 8 o'clock this evening.

The Fengtien troops appear to have withdrawn the Chihli attack, although they were slightly pressed back until they were reinforced by 3,500 troops from Fengtai, who took up a position on a hill on the Fengtien left front, causing an immediate partial retirement of the Chihli forces.

To-day's closing rate 2:65 1/16.
To-day's opening rate 2:65 1/16

CHINA'S WAR.

A Fengtien cavalry division reached Mentukou, where they are guarding against a flank movement.

Shanghai is reported from the middle front.

Chinese military experts state that General Wu Pei-fu is only reconnoitering his forces at Changshien, and that his real attack there will begin to-morrow, when the best Chihli troops are expected to reach the front.

FENGTIEN HEADQUARTERS' REPORT.

TIENSIN, April 30.
The Fengtien troops' headquarters at Tientsin issued the following report last night, which must, naturally, be taken with reserve:—

At Machang there was fighting throughout the day and night of the 28th inst. between the Chihli Twenty-Sixth Division and First Regiment and the Fengtien First and Seventh Brigades.

The Fengtien forces attacked the Chihli forces on three sides, inflicting a severe defeat, wounding several hundred, capturing scores, and driving back the rest.

Mukden also suffered some casualties.

At Changshien, over 100 Chihli troops were captured, and between 50 to 90 wounded, including a brigadier of the Chihli forces, which were defeated.

The Chihli version has been issued, but various unofficial reports indicate that Fengtien gained a probable advantage at Machang, where at the outbreak of the fighting they met only General Wu Pei-fu's weakest troops.

PREMIER CHOW TZE CHI RESIGNS.

TIENSIN, April 30.
The French gunboat "Craonne" arrived last evening.

PEKING, April 29.
Premier Chow Tze-chi has resigned, explaining that he accepted the acting Premiership in the hope of arranging a settlement between General Chang Tso-lin and General Wu Pei-fu, but that having failed he does not desire to carry on.

PEKING, April 29.
Two Chinese cruisers left Chefoo on the 27th inst., after announcing their intention to cut the Peking-Mukden railway to the north of Shanhaikuan. This would seriously embarrass the Fengtien forces during hostilities and would cut off their retreat if defeated.

WARNING TO FOREIGNERS.

The Legations have warned their nationals in the vicinity of Peking to enter the capital.

Additional Legation guards are arriving, bringing their total to 1,200, but there is not likely to be any danger to foreigners, except possibly at outlying places at the hands of looting bands of defeated soldiery.

NIGHT ATTACK.

PEKING, April 30.
The Fengtien commandant at Changshien has ordered a night attack for this evening, and the Chihli forces at Lukouchia are also preparing for an attack late this afternoon.

Mutual desultory gun and machine-gun firing continued late this evening. At nine o'clock heavy gunfire broke out to the east of Changshien, continuing without intermission.

According to semi-official Chinese reports, Chihli forces drove out the Fengtien forces at Changshien, and the latter are retreating to the eastward, while the Fengtien troops on the middle front are advancing from Kuan towards Kaopingtien, in the vicinity of which heavy fighting is proceeding.

The night is dark, and the clear air is still booming with Fengtien heavy artillery and lighter field pieces, which are plainly audible in the Legation quarter.—

SIA MI-OR WAR.

PORTE ACCEPTS ALLIES' PEACE TERMS.

CONSTANTINOPLE, April 30.
The Porte has informed the allied high commissioners that it accepts the Allies' peace proposals, generally with a reservation with regard to discussion of important points, including financial, military and reparations questions.

The Porte insists on evacuation of the occupied regions. It demands an equitable regime for Mussulmans and maintenance of the Sultan's religious authority. It protests against the inter-allied commission supervising the Straits while promising entire freedom for navigation.

The Porte rejects any payment of compensation to Greece and promises to respect minorities.

RUSSIAN AFFAIRS.

BRITAIN'S GENOA PROPOSALS.

GENOA, April 30.
The British Russia proposals which are being reconciled with the French (mentioned in our earlier cables) follow similar lines, but suggest referring to inter-governmental debts an arbitration court to be chosen by the Court of International Justice, the Supreme Court of the United States or the Council of the League of Nations. The "fixed" sum determined thereby must be paid within 50 years, plus interest at 5 per cent.

[The French memorandum favours an international consortium with the object of financing the reconstruction and formation of a company to rehabilitate rolling stock and demand guarantees from foreign companies in the undertaking of industrial reform. The Soviet Government, on all debts, but creditors must grant facilities for payment.]

MORATORIUM FOR RUSSIA.

PARIS, May 1.
A message from Genoa states that the judicial committee adopted a formula of conciliation for intergovernmental war debts.
It is understood that Russia is one of the countries in respect of which a moratorium.

QUEST FOR A FATHER.

ACTION AGAINST LAWYER-GUARDIAN.

For the first time in Vienna a lawyer has been sued by an illegitimate child, a girl now grown up and about to be married, to disclose the name of her father. The lawyer had been her guardian during her minority.

Though she claimed a tenuous, as she understood her father to be a rich man, and had to show some material advantage to be gained by her in bringing the action, she said in court that her real motive was sentiment.
Her mother was a well-known singer.
After the lawyer had stated that the father was a foreigner, that he lived abroad, and that he did not know his address but could obtain it and would write asking him if he objected to disclosing his identity to his daughter, the suit, on the advice of the judge, was withdrawn, as the lawyer's proposal seemed most likely to benefit the girl.

It was stated that the foster-parents of the girl had refused, after the first few years, to take any monthly payments from the lawyer on the father's behalf. She is now 23.

EDITOR, JOURNAL, PUBLIC SERVICE.

HONGKONG, MONDAY, MAY 1, 1922.

MILITARISM.

Field-Marshal Sir Henry Wilson seems to have made a great impression at Home with his speech on the Army Estimates. He impressed the newspapermen and they have been impressing the public in the usual way, by pointing theilly, and giving the so strong that none will dare to attack you. That means he is strong enough to beat all the rest of the world allied against you. Yet the same reporter observes (in the modern journalistic style of running comment) "Sir Henry faced facts, and his speech was strictly logical from beginning to end." If we had been given the full speech we might have judged for ourselves, but we never get that nowadays. We are to take this anonymous reporter's word for it that the speech was logical throughout. How do we know that the reporter is a judge of logic? If we know anything we know that he isn't.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

These "Plebeians," the last of the four new oil tankers built to the order of the Anglo-Siam Petroleum Co., will be launched from Kowloon Docks on Thursday, the 4th May, at 2.30 p.m. A launch will leave Blake Pier at 2 p.m.

An amusing social farce with a moral for wives and sweethearts, "Don't Change Your Husband" comes to the Coronet Theatre this evening, a very clever and entertaining Paramount picture with Gloria Swanson in the leading role.

Six or seven men attacked a Chinese in Hollywood Road, at the junction of Queen's Road West at 9.30 p.m., on Saturday. After belabouring him, they stole his watch and chain with a jade and a half-sovereign pendant attached.

Three cases of plague (two fatal) were reported on Friday, all Chinese. Three cases of enteric fever (one fatal) were also notified, two Chinese and one British. Two cases of small pox (one fatal) completed the list, one Chinese and the other Indian.

Mr. James Kerfoot, formerly of Messrs. Jardine Matheson and Co.'s Cotton Mills Department, Shanghai, who retired from the Far East a few years ago—was one of the principal witnesses in the criminal charge recently heard at Home against the notorious Mr. E. T. Hooley.

Mary Miles' "Winter plays the leading role in "A Cumberland Romance," the latest Realist picture which comes to the Kowloon Theatre this evening. Filmed in the Tennessee Mountains, this picture presents some very beautiful scenery as the setting for a stirring tale of love and adventure.

Dr. Francis Clark, formerly Medical Officer of Health of Hongkong, is announced to deliver a lecture in the Great Hall of the University on Monday next under the auspices of the Hongkong University Medical Society on "Man's Insect Enemies" (with special reference to the health of the Colony). H. E. the Governor has indicated his intention to be present.

Three new recruits for the Police Force, Messrs. Cunningham, and Ian and Ronald McEwen, arrived in the Colony by the "Yoshino Maru" during the week-end. The two McEwens are sons of Mr. R. G. McEwen, of the Sanitary Board, and were both born in Hongkong. They went home with their mother in 1906 were educated in England and served in the Army during the war.

The Admiralty notify that officers serving in ships on foreign stations will not as a general rule, be relieved before the end of the commission except for courses or other urgent service requirements. The revised arrangements for commissioning will be worked gradually, and while in some instances it may be necessary to relieve officers before completing two years in existing appointments, it may be assumed that no officer will be kept abroad for more than three years. In the case of engineer officers the normal period of appointment will be two and a half years, irrespective of the date of commissioning.

According to advices received at Washington, Buddhist nuns in Japan are engaged in a vigorous, organized campaign to be released from the more rigorous practices of their order. They demand the same privileges as monks in such matters as growing of hair, eating meat etc. It is said that the significance of the agitation is the evident intention of Japanese women to secure equal rights with men. The nuns are revolting against the customs of centuries, which they declare, place them in the position of mere messengers for Buddhist priests, who deny them the "human pleasures" granted to males.

TRAM CAR MANNERS.

EUROPEAN'S ASSAULT COMPLAINT.

An office boy employed at the Hongkong Hotel was charged before Magistrate Fraser this morning with having assaulted Sapper W. P. Cleaver, of the Royal Engineers.

The Sapper said that he was coming out of a tram car opposite the Post Office about 6 p.m., yesterday with a baby in his arms when the defendant suddenly struck him on the mouth with his fist. Witness could not retaliate with the baby in his arms. He therefore lifted his foot to kick the defendant, but missed. The defendant turned round and deliberately struck him a second blow on the face causing blood to flow from his nose and mouth.

Mrs. Cleaver corroborated her husband's story.

Defendant said that he was travelling in the first class compartment with Mr. and Mrs. Cleaver. Mr. Cleaver stood blocking the exit, and appeared to be undecided whether to alight or not, as the witness brushed past him and jumped off the car. The complainant kicked him on the elbow and he retaliated.

Remarking that he thought there was some sort of provocation for the assault, the Magistrate said that at the same time he did not think the defendant knew the common rules of conduct and politeness. He would fine him $10.

STRIKE AT CHINESE POST OFFICE, SHANGHAI.

300 EMPLOYEES OUT: MORE PAY AND SHORTER HOURS: POLICE CALLED TO PEKING RD.

Some 300 postmen employed by the Chinese Post Office in Shanghai went out on strike on April 24. It appears that for some time past they have been dissatisfied with their conditions of employment, and that morning they presented a petition to the Acting Postal Commissioner (Mr. Smith), setting forth three demands: (1) for an increase in wages to meet the rise in the cost of living, (2) reduction in the number of hours, and (3) return of deferred pay. It appears to be the custom to deduct $1 monthly from the postmen's wages, this amount being placed to his credit and being returnable on completion of service, though subject to confiscation upon dismissal of a man for any culpable reason. The number of hours put in each day by these men is at present 12.

At 4 o'clock that afternoon, the petitioners demanded a satisfactory reply. They were informed that the matter can only be settled on reference to Peking, and were guaranteed a fair hearing for their grievances, but this did not satisfy them, and the more demonstrative among them at once decided upon a strike. Others were induced to join them and by 9 o'clock the number of strikers had increased to 300. The Central District men being joined by men from the outside districts. There was some attempt to interfere with the routine of the office, but the indoor staff remained at work and the night mail was got away. The incoming mail was delayed in transit from Shanghai North station to the office.

Towards 10 o'clock the strikers became rather more demonstrative and a number of detectives and plain clothes officers from Central Station went round to the Post Office to see that order was maintained. Meanwhile, Chief Inspector Borside joined the Deputy Postmaster in receiving a deputation of the strikers' representatives and a long discussion ensued. The men could not be induced to postpone action until the matter had been referred to Peking; and at midnight the meeting broke up without any compromise having been arrived at.

The postmen, several of whom were in an angry and excited mood, adjourned from the corridor outside the Commissioner's office to the yard below and a meeting was held. One or two speeches were made, evidently of no conciliatory character, and after about ten minutes' oratory, the whole body of men left the building and proceeded quietly to their homes. The indoor staff remained to deal with night mail, but a full delivery was not to be expected that morning.

HONGKONG UNIVERSITY.

MAY HALL ANNUAL DINNER.

May Hall annual dinner was held on Saturday. The objects of this function are to promote mutual understanding and goodwill among the students of May Hall and those of other hostels and members of the staff; to bring together the old graduates and old friends of this hostel; and to create an esprit de corps among its members.

Among the guests present were the Vice-Chancellor, the Registrar, Professors Earle Brown, Vickers, Redmond, and Byrne, Messrs. R. H. Kotewall, Orme, Tanner, Robertson, and the wardens and representatives of other hostels. Among the old residents and graduates present were Messrs. Z. K. Wong, and T. O. Wong. The members of the decorating committee are to be congratulated on the simple yet artistic decoration of the hall, the good lighting effects, and the arrangement of the seats.

At the end of the dinner, after the usual toast to the King and the President of China had been honoured, the toast of the Vice-Chancellor was proposed by the Hon. Secretary, Mr. G. G. Wong. The toast of the guests was proposed by the Chairman, Mr. T. L. Cheah after Messrs. Orme and Kotewall had replied, the toast of May Hall was proposed by the former warden, Prof. Redmond and answered by the present warden, Prof. Simpson.

Two musical items were given between the toasts, both of which were cordially received. One was a student's song by Prof. Brown, ably assisted by a well formed chorus of May Hallians. The other item was a musical selection by the May Hall violinists, Messrs. B. C. Lee and K. T. Khoo with Dr. Fenton at the piano.

Prizes for the singles and doubles tennis tournament of the Hostel were distributed by the Vice-Chancellor to the winners, as follows:—

Singles Championship, Messrs. M. K. Yue (1) and W. H. Shih (2).

Doubles Handicap, Messrs. K. C. Yee and B. C. Lee (1), Messrs. Y. P. Shui, T. H. Dong (2).

The Prince of Wales' Cup for the mile race of the University Sports was presented to Mr. Hoalim amidst great applause.

A most enjoyable function ended with the British and the Chinese national anthems.

MUI TSUI IN HONGKONG.

Truth says: Mr. Churchill has acted with commendable firmness in ordering the abolition of the custom of mu tsui in Hongkong. The history of the agitation suggests that there was very stubborn official opposition to the step that has now been taken. I do not suppose that the local administration has ever realised its task as an apologist for the existence in a British colony of what the Chief Justice of Hongkong forty years ago described as "virtually a form of slavery." But the local administration has always lacked the courage to tackle a system so common among the Chinese population, and in consequence the inquiry ordered by Lord Kimberley in 1882 was turked, while ever since the question was actively revived a year or two ago all sorts of excuses for non-interference have been put forward.

In Ministerial replies given in the House of Commons mu tsui has been excused as a Chinese social custom of child-adoption, and the sales of little girls for money payments have been euphemistically styled "transfers." There could be, of course, no legal enforcement of these contracts in a British colony, but in practice the system among the Chinese community was unchecked and the wretched victims, working as domestic slaves without wages and suffering often abominable ill-treatment. Many, too, were sold and re-sold into a worse life than that of domestic drudges. Apparently Mr. Churchill has lately found time to look into the matter for himself; at any rate, he has now brushed aside all previous official quibbles and directed that the status of mu tsui as understood in China shall not in future be recognised in Hongkong.

The greatest credit for the ending of this scandal is due to Commander Haslewood, R.N., and Mrs. Haslewood. After the Armistice Commander Haslewood was appointed to a post in the dockyard at Hongkong. In 1920 he was forced to resign because he refused to disavow his wife from writing letters to the press about the horrors of the customs of mu tsui. They returned to England, and ever since they have worked unceasingly supported by the Anti-Slavery and Aborigines' Protection Societies—to bring about the end of which Mr. Churchill has now announced. In view of that result, which is a justification of the course Mrs. Haslewood took, the case of Commander Haslewood ought to be reconsidered at the Admiralty.

SOLICITORS AS COUNSEL.

THE FIRST OCCASION.

MR. BRUTTON BREAKS THE ICE.

To Mr. G. K. Hall Brutton it has fallen to be the first solicitor to take advantage of the Ordinance which was passed recently to deal with the emergency caused by the shortage of barristers in the Colony and which enables a solicitor to appear as counsel in the court of original jurisdiction.

The action in which he appeared was the Chinese "Tichborne" case which has been occupying the attention of the Chief Justice (Sir William Rees Davies) off and on for many months. It was adjourned last February owing to the indisposition of Mr. V. G. Alabaster who instructed by Mr. Hall Brutton, had, with the late Mr. E. H. Sharp K.C., acted as counsel for the plaintiff. Mr. Eldon Potter and Mr. F. C. Jenkin (instructed by Messrs. Deacon, Looker, Deacon and Harston) are representing the defendants.

When Mr. Hall Brutton, bareheaded and wearing his solicitor's robe, took his seat at the advocates' table a minute or two before the arrival of the Chief Justice there was a brief discussion between counsel as to what the proper procedure should be. Mr. Brutton wondered whether he would have to make a formal application and would require a written order authorising him to appear.

The Chief Justice solved the problem when he came into Court by addressing Mr. Brutton as follows: "This case has been adjourned for some time. Your leading counsel, the late Mr. Sharp, is dead and your junior counsel, Mr. Alabaster, owing to ill health, has been obliged to leave the Colony on vacation. That being so, I understand that you know of no available barrister that could conduct this case."

Mr. Hall Brutton: That is so, My Lord.

The Chief Justice: That being so, you are desirous, I understand of taking the case yourself and the new Ordinance which was passed on the twenty-fourth of March last empowers the Chief Justice to authorise any duly qualified solicitor of the Supreme Court to appear and act as a barrister in any case in the administration of the Supreme Court in which it may be desirable to do so, having regard to all the circumstances. Now, it is quite clear to me that this is a case which properly comes within the new Ordinance. The circumstances certainly require that I should give you an audience for the purposes of this case.

Mr. Potter then proceeded to develop further the case for the defendants.

MOTOR ACCIDENT.

A small Chevrolet car, No. 238, carrying four Chinese of the working class, collided simultaneously with a tram car and a China Mail reporter at 6 p.m. yesterday, on Praya East. The tram car offered more resistance than our reporter, and undoubtedly saved his life. The motor's starboard mudguard was badly crumpled, and the tram bears marks of the impact. It was the opposite front wheel that hit the reporter. The scene of the remarkable collision was at the tram stop against the new market, just west of the Praya East fire station. Two tram lengths west of that is a patch of street up, with a board marked danger. Although the tram had stopped, and passengers were alighting, car No. 238 turned in after passing the danger board, and attempted to pass the standing tram on the side where people were getting off. Having done his duty by the China Mail, what should the reporter do now towards his duty to the public? Perhaps the traffic officer will advise!

Some sound advice is given by Mr. Bertrand Russell in the Chinese Students' Monthly for last month. This is a magazine published by, and on behalf of, the Chinese Students' Alliance in the United States. The keynote of the remarks is that China must strive for the preservation of national independence. If that is to be preserved, he tells us, there are four great tasks which the Chinese will have to accomplish for themselves in the following order:—(1) The growth of public morality and energy; (2) the establishment of a good and stable government; (3) education, both technical and elementary; (4) the development of Chinese will have to accomplish for themselves in skill. The need of widespread radical reform in China is admitted, but the growth must be the outcome of development of China's past, evolved to suit her own circumstances and not a mere substitution of Western ideas, many of which are quite unsuited to her without a long period of preparation.

CANTON SITUATION.

LONDON, April 29.

The imminence of a great conflict in China is indicated by a Hongkong message which states that adherents of Sun Yat-sen, President of the so-called Southern Republic, have seized the Northern Squadron anchored near Canton and overpowered and taken prisoner the crews, while Peking messages report that fighting has begun twelve miles from Peking, heavy artillery firing being audible over a wide area.—Reuter.

Details to hand from Canton show that President Sun intended to take no chances as to the possibility of the Northern Squadron's siding with the Peking Government. The seizure was accomplished easily enough once the resistance of the flagship "Hatch" crew had been overcome. Some casualties, are reported. Sun Cheong-to has now taken over command of the squadron the seizure of which the squadron is not likely materially to increase Sun's chances of success in the campaign although he regards it as a not inconsiderable feather in his cap as showing a growing recognition of his authority.

General Chan is at present at Weichow and it seems a little uncertain what he will do. It is regarded as doubtful that Sun's Northern expedition could succeed without Chan's co-operation.

LATEST PLANS.

According to the latest plans of the Constitutional leaders, the Northern Expedition Armies will advance northward en route for Sinkwan, a city on the North River, and the Northern Expedition Headquarters will soon be moved there, says today's Canton Times.

It is reported that preparations are being made in Sinkwan to welcome the President who is expected to get there as soon as he has completed the arrangements of the provincial affairs of Kwangtung.

President Sun Yat-sen has appointed Wu Cho-sang Superintendent of Military Stations of the Northern Expedition Headquarters. This position had been made vacant by the resignation of Mr. Chung Sau-nam.

President Sun Yat-sen paid a whole day's visit to the Government Arsenal at Shi-chang last Saturday.

FORMER HONGKONG MAN'S WILL.

SIR THOMAS SUTHERLAND LEAVES £723,075.

Sir Thomas Sutherland, of 7, Buckingham-gate, S. W., who died on January 1, has left £723,075. The testator gave to his daughter, Helen £10,000, and "nothing more, as she was already provided for." He also gave £15,000 to his sister Margaret; £10,000 to his niece, Irene Whiting; £1,000 to the Greenock Infirmary; £1,000 to the vicar and churchwardens of St. Luke's Mill; £10,000 and half the proceeds of the sale of his residence in Buckingham-gate to his secretary, Marjory Sinclair McKay, £2,000 to Robert John Rolt; £1,000 each to his gardener and butler, and the ultimate residue to King Edward's Hospital Fund.

Sir Thomas Sutherland, G.C.M.G., who resided in Hongkong many years ago was former chairman of the Peninsular and Oriental Company, from which post he retired in 1914. He was also chairman and vice-president of the London Board of the Suez Canal Company director of the London City and Midland Bank, and chairman of the Marine and General Assurance Society. He was M.P. for Greenock from 1884 to 1900.

China's Railways.—In concluding a paper dealing with railway problems in China, which he read before the Institute of Transport, Mr. T. R. Johnson truly remarked that no country in the world had a brighter prospect for railways than China if judicious extensions are undertaken. He noted that for the year ending December 31, 1919, the Chinese Government railways, showed a surplus profit of about £5,000,000 sterling. That sum was realised after all expenses and the interest on capital outlay had been met. It would seem to the ordinary man that it should be possible to supplement this either by funds raised locally or abroad so as to undertake the construction of a considerable mileage of new railway every year. The surplus provides an excellent fund out of which interest could be provided to raise the necessary further capital required for extensions, only, unfortunately, these surplus profits would appear to be diverted to other purposes, whether of the Peking Government or of some Techno who has the power to lay his hands on them. It is sad to see the opportunity of increased mileage thus thrown away.

HOUSE COLLAPSES.

CHINESE WOMAN KILLED.
OTHERS INJURED.

WOMAN STILL UNDER THE DEBRIS.

A serious house-collapse resulting in at least one death, and injuries to two people occurred at No. 27, Gage Street shortly after 11.30 this morning.

A gang of coolie men and women were at work pulling down the building which had been condemned by the P.W.D., when some heavy masonry on the first floor verandah collapsed on to the scaffolding erected outside the building. Already holding heavy beams and flooring boards removed from the interior of the building, the scaffolding gave way. Several masons who came to the ground with it, were only slightly hurt but several coolie women engaged in shovelling earth immediately under the scaffolding were pinned under the heavy beams, planks and masonry.

The Central Police Station was at once notified, gangs of coolies meantime setting to work to rescue the people buried under the debris whose pitiful cries of "Save life" could be feebly heard. One woman was removed after a couple of minutes' work not badly hurt, having been lucky to escape the full weight of the collapse. She was at once taken away by relatives. Mr. D. Burlingham, A.S.P., the first European to reach the scene of the accident, immediately gave a hand in the rescue work, the cries of the women meanwhile continuing to reach the ears of the workers. The firemen under Station Officer, Moss, and the motor ambulance arrived soon afterwards, and were followed by all available men, Europeans, Indians and Chinese from Central Station, including the Captain Superintendent of Police, Mr. E. D. C. Wolfe, Mr. P. P. J. Woodhouse, D.S.P., and Mr. C. G. Purdie, A.S.P.

Crowds of Chinese had gathered at the cross streets by this time, and were hampering the rescue work hemming in the workers in their eagerness to get a glimpse of what was going forward. After the street had been safely cleared, the rescue work was begun in earnest, the firemen hacking away the scaffolding and planks with their hatchets and piling the wood away on the other side of the street. Then they came upon the heavy beams which had to be hauled out with ropes.

After about five minutes' strenuous work, a woman was brought out. She was suffering more from shock than anything, her injuries being a badly bruised eye and face, and some other small wounds on the legs and hands. She was able to walk and at first refused to go to hospital, but after much coaxing agreed to enter the motor ambulance.

The second woman brought out, was dead. She had received the full weight of the collapse, and must have died instantaneously.

Meanwhile a woman who had been persistent in her cries of "Save life" under the debris on the east side of the collapse, had ceased shouting. Fear that she was dying caused the rescuers to redouble their efforts, and after about ten minutes she was brought out on to the shoulders of a labourer. She was still alive but practically unconscious. There were practically no visible marks of injury on her, and she too, was suffering more from shock than anything else. She was removed to the motor ambulance in a stretcher. Here she recovered sufficiently to be able to give Inspector Marks her name and other particulars.

Another person, some say it was a woman and others a youth, is still reported to be under the debris. The rescuers are still hard at work but up to the time our reporter left the scene the body had not been recovered.

FINDING STEALING.

When an amah was charged before Magistrate Fraser this morning with the theft of two finger rings, a gold locket and $10 in cash, she pleaded ignorance of local law. She was new from the country, she said, and thought that the law here was the same as there, namely that what one found one could keep. She claimed to have found all the articles she was charged with stealing. Sentence of fourteen days' hard labour was passed.

NOW IS THE TIME.

For rheumatism you will find nothing better than Chamberlain's Pain Balm. Now is the time to get rid of it. Try this liniment and see how quickly it will relieve the pain and soreness. For sale by all Chemists and Storekeepers.

SILLY WOMAN.

MAKES MORE TROUBLE
FOR HERSELF.

A Chinese woman sentenced by Magistrate Lindell this morning to three weeks' hard labour for the theft of a jacket loudly protested her innocence. Greeting the dock rails, she defied the efforts of a policeman to remove her. Eventually, she was taken out of the dock but a warning from the Magistrate notwithstanding she continued to struggle. Losing patience, the Magistrate ordered her to be put back in the dock and remarking "I mean what I say," increased her sentence to six weeks' hard labour. The woman was then taken out of court without further trouble.

MURDER MYSTERY.

Taioktsui was the scene of a mysterious shooting affair early on Friday morning. The victim, a coal coolie, died at the Kwong Wah Hospital on the following evening. As the result of information received, the police went to a house in Fice Street, and there found the wounded man lying in bed with a bullet wound in the chest. His statement was that someone knocked at the door at 1 a.m., and called out his name. He opened the door and a shot was promptly fired at him, the assailant bolting down the stairs immediately afterwards. He had no clue as to the identity of his assailant or the cause of the shooting as he had had no quarrel with anyone.

REPORTED RAILWAY
ROBBERY.

To-day's Canton Times gives an account of a train robbery near Shek-lyu. It says last Saturday evening's train from Kowloon was attacked there by a gang of bandits who succeeded in overpowering the railway police and mugging the train. A large quantity of luggage and valuables belonging to the passengers is said to have been taken away and it is stated that 30 passengers are being held for ransom.

Mr. H. P. Winslow, the Manager of the Kowloon-Canton Railway, informed a China Mail reporter this afternoon that no train from Kowloon had been interfered with.

WOMAN POISONED.

The body of a Chinese woman, from Tunginglee village, Aukau district, was yesterday removed to the public mortuary, where a post mortem examination revealed that death was due to poisoning.

Her husband's concubine who absconded simultaneously with the discovery of the body is suspected of having caused the death. The police have a description of the woman, and investigations are proceeding.

Heungshan's water police force is being increased.

Mr. Chan Ka-ting, chairman of National Federation of Labour Organizations is visiting Canton.

Ten cases of plague (seven fatal) comprised Saturday's return of notifiable disease. They were all Chinese.

Automobile in China.—In a recent issue of Commerce Reports published by the United States Department of Commerce, is a series of statements furnished by American Consuls in various parts of China concerning the prospects for tyre-repairing material. "The market is apparently small, and entirely centred in Shanghai, where the greater number of modern vehicles are, and where to repairs from other localities are despatched. Incidentally, the reports furnish some interesting data concerning the progress of the automobile in China. With the exception of Shanghai, every Consular district reported the absence of suitable roads, and consequently, the absence of automobiles of any kind. In the Shanghai district there are 208 miles of roads, on which there are from 4,000 to 5,000 automobiles. In Chefoo there were but two cars, and Nanking with a very limited road mileage for their use, reports less than 100 cars and lorries. Chungking has neither suitable road nor automobiles. Foochow, with 30 miles of road, has a few small cars and some motor omnibuses. In Tientsin and vicinity there are but 30 motor cars in use, and in the territory around Amoy there are only 10 or 11. In Tientsin and vicinity, on the other hand, there are some 175 motor vehicles in use.

MAILS TO THE EAST.

In the course of the Colonial Office report on Hongkong for the year 1920, which has only just made its appearance, a Home paper states that during the early portion of the year serious inconvenience was caused by irregular arrivals of English mails, due to failure on several occasions to make the steamer connection at Nagapatnam. The position was remedied later in the year by the provision of more fast vessels on the London-Bombay service, and by an arrangement with the Straits Settlements Postal Administration for Hongkong letter mails to be sent by rail from Penang to Singapore. Thereafter the service was improved. The mention of mails for the East—that is, by the Suez route—leads one to remember what were the pre-war conditions, which, as far as such things can do, met the convenience of the majority of people having business or other correspondence with the Far East. That is, for India, the Straits, Java, Borneo, etc., up to Hongkong. North of that colony the various routes via America furnished the best means of communication. The system that then prevailed was a departure every Friday evening, and its incidence was such that it was certainly most convenient for practically all. The homeward mail by this route—that is, the Suez Canal—usually came in on the Monday, and this also was convenient. Whatever day the homeward mail might arrive, however, we have little hesitation in saying that most people would welcome a return to the outward despatch being again on the Friday, instead of the Thursday, as has been the custom for some time, and it is hoped that this one of the pre-war conditions, that we shall not have to wait much longer for before it is reinstated," says the China Express and Telegraph.

THE TARIFF REVISION COMMISSION.

INAUGURAL SPEECH TO THE DELEGATES: IMPORTANCE OF THE COMMISSION'S WORK.

The inaugural meeting of the Customs Tariff Revision Commission was held on March 31 at the Chinese General Chambers of Commerce, Shanghai, under the chairmanship of Admiral Tsai Ting-kan. About 80 delegates were assembled, and the proceedings were of an informal character.

Admiral Tsai, who was received with cheers, said:

I have much honour and pleasure in welcoming you here today. Old friends and familiar faces bring me encouragement and new members give me hope in the future work of the Tariff Revision Commission.

In the midst of destruction in the Great War the Tariff Revision Commission sat in 1918 in this very room to do a bit of re-constructive work. Again in the midst of social and political upheaval, amidst commercial and economic disturbances we are sitting here to-day with the specific object of re-adjusting prices and fixing a new tariff.

NEED OF CO-OPERATION.

If the world ever needed international co-operation it is to-day. After the terrible years of destruction the old order of things has passed away—a reconstruction is necessary and demanded, otherwise confusion will continue to reign. The world needs sympathy and good-will and mutual helpfulness. One supreme fact has loomed up before the world. It is this: that no one nation can suffer without the other nations suffering with it.

This Commission can never belittle its labours. It will not only be fixing a five per cent. ad valorem duty for imports, but consciously or unconsciously it will be solving one of the world's problems. Its duty is a part of international co-operation. "Co-operation of all peoples is the path to the world's salvation," as some one said. If we realize this higher part of our duty we will have a clearer notion of what we should do and shall do.

RESTORING EQUILIBRIUM.

I quote from a recent journal the following:

"The greatest project confronting the statesmen of Europe to-day is the restoration of the equilibrium of the world. Much good can be obtained through representatives of all countries rubbing elbows, coming into close contact with one another, discussing problems at the conference table and having opportunities of viewing a subject from the other countries' points of view, but actual economic reconstruction and revival can only be brought about by prolonged hard work and the co-operation of all peoples. More and more the liberal minded peoples of all allied countries are realizing the root idea that Europe is economically one and that nations prosper by each other's prosperity and suffer by each other's misfortune. In his address before the Anglo-American Association (in Peking) Sir Charles Addis has appropriately reminded his audience of this fundamental basis of world reconstruction."

If this mutual prosperity or adversity is true of Europe it is also true of the entire world. If it is true in the realm of economics in Europe it is also true in the realm of economic in Asia.

GIVE AND TAKE.

So far as I am aware there is in all human transactions no absolute advantage to one party and absolute disadvantage to another party. If this state of affairs does exist it cannot last long. It is not within the nature of things that the world shall roll on one-sided and out of equilibrium. The evidences of natural law and human history are against it. Therefore in our coming work, while we are taking care of our own national interests let us not forget the other parties' needs. Let us not forget to view the subject from the other countries' points of view." An impoverished China will reduce her buying power, and thus cripple your trade with our people. A constant evaporation from the ocean without rainfall will soon dry up the rivers and seas. Give and take has been and will continue to be the golden rule in trade and commerce as well as in all things else.

AN EFFECTIVE FIVE PER CENT.

With the vision of true statesmanship, with broad and liberal views to bear on the subject of tariff revision, you will loathe to play the part of scraping iron from the point of a needle—of giving China anything less than an effective five per cent.

I will make myself better understood by quoting what Mr. Balfour said at the Pilgrims' Society dinner party in London on February 25. Mr. Balfour said: "The representatives of the Nine Powers took about 15 weeks' labour to bring the Washington Conference to an un-mixed satisfaction to every one present and no representative will return home without claiming that he has furthered the interests of the world and thereby the interests of his own people."

If that be true of the representatives at the Washington Conference I am sure it shall be true of the delegates of this Commission. We cannot do less and feel less. Our work may be less in degree of importance but its quality shall not be less. We too shall finish with perfect satisfaction to all present for furthering the interest of the world and the interest of our own people.

At the conclusion of his address, Admiral Tsai said he did not expect that the first session of the Conference would take place until at least a week hence.

WHAT IS DUE TO CHINA.

Mr. H. H. Fox, C.M.G., the British delegate, on behalf of Great Britain and the other delegations as well as those delegates who attended the last Commission, thanked the Chairman for his very kind reception. It was with great pleasure that they saw him there and also their friend, Mr. L. A. Lyall. They all felt quite sure that with two such experienced men to direct the work of the commission, it would be possible to do their best to give the Chinese Government what was admitted was justly due to them. The only difficulty was on what basis the tariff was to be revised.

"I feel sure that all of us," said Mr. Fox, "are studying the matter with a spirit of goodwill and that we shall arrive, at that basis which will be just and fair all round."

THE DELEGATES.

The list of delegates so far appointed to the commission, most of whom were present at the function, is as follows:—

Great Britain: Messrs. H. H. Fox, C.M.G., and A. H. George.

France: MM. Knight, Madier and Fredet.

Italy: Comm. G. de Rossi, Signor Giolimo.

Brazil: Mr. Hugo Reis.

Denmark: Messrs. T. Raaschou, H. Hergel and Johannes Jespersen.

Spain: Don Louis Rubis Almoeo.

Portugal: Messrs. Batalha de Freitas and S. E. Monseur.

Holland: Messrs. William Daniels and M. J. Harschleb.

Belgium: MM. Von Hauster and Stractmans.

Norway: MM. Nicolai Aal and F. Sem.

Sweden: Baron Akerheim and M. Renberg.

Japan: Messrs. T. Funatsu, S. Hayakawa and S. Oyama.

The names of the American and Swiss delegates have not yet been announced.

THE CHAIRMAN'S HOPES.

In the course of a statement made to a representative of the North China Daily News regarding the work of the commission, Admiral Tsai said: "I think this time we will be able to work more smoothly than we did

AWAKENING CHINA.

DR. JOSEPH TAYLOR ON HIS WORK.

A correspondent sends to the Manchester Guardian some remarks as the result of a conversation with Dr. Joseph Taylor. He says:—A railway signal-cabin boy who has become Chairman of the Senate of a university is a character not to be met with every day. Dr. Joseph Taylor, a Yorkshireman from Malton, began his career in a North-Eastern Railway signal-box, went to America at the age of twenty, graduated at the Brown University, Rhode Island, and for the past twenty years has devoted himself to work in China, where he has become Chairman of the Senate of the West China Union University, Cheng-tu. He is in England en route for America, of which country he has become a citizen. "My great hope for China," he said, "is in an enlightened and educated democracy. Not even the monarchical dynasties have been able to crush out the essential democracy in the towns and villages. For ages their guild organisations have been doing what the West is now talking about doing."

"Even in Szechwan, so far in the West that our work is necessarily much more pioneering than that nearer the coast, we cannot keep pace with the educational demand of the people. The West China Union University, established fourteen years ago by the Friends' Foreign Mission Association, the Canadian Methodists, the American Baptists, and Episcopal Methodists, and recently joined by the Church Missionary Society, cannot cope with the demands made upon it."

Despite the urgent needs of the many applicants, finance is the bar to the opening of the gates of the University for women students. Besides the ordinary courses, including medicine (the latter is being taken up by fifty students out of 400), there is a course in silk-giving and spinning. "The ideal of the University," said Dr. Taylor, "is to create a corps of leaders doing intensive educational work in order that the Chinese Church can do extensive evangelistic and educational work. Only two or three of the University teachers are Chinese, but most of those at the great middle school at Cheng-tu, which is a city of half a million inhabitants, are Chinese, including the principal, Mr. Yang Shao Chuen, who is a Quaker. Already there are 15,000 children at schools in the province. These and their successors will want all the teachers we can turn out."

That the University is succeeding in making itself a factor in the life of the country is evident from the fact that during the recent cholera outbreak the Provincial Government appointed one of their students as medical officer of Cheng-tu to cope with the epidemic, which carried off 10,000 souls. "The West China Union" is the only university for the whole of the 60,000,000 inhabitants of Szechwan. For the thousands who cannot be reached directly or are past school age Dr. Taylor has great faith in the help of the simplified phonetic script. The enlightened Governor of Shansi, Mr. Yen-hsi-shai, seeing the significance of this simple form of education, has distributed many millions of copies of text-books. In doing this he is carrying out the course foreshadowed forty years ago by Li Hung-chang and Dr. Timothy Richard.

Last time when six months were wasted and nothing resulted. The chairman, then, Mr. Tseng Ju-cheng, did not understand any foreign language and matters were delayed and time wasted. This time, with the experience and the information we have gained from the last revision conference, we expect to be much quicker in our work. Besides, many delegates to the present conference were members of the old commission. So I have every confidence and expectation that things will go on smoothly and everything settled agreeably.

INDIAN WINS MARATHON.

The twentieth annual athletics sports meeting of the Victoria Recreation Club was held on the Hongkong Football Club ground, Happy Valley, on Saturday afternoon.

There was a large gathering of spectators, and everyone spent a very enjoyable afternoon, although the sun was very hot at the opening stages of the meeting.

The meeting was a great success from every point of view, reflecting much credit on the hard-working Hon. Secretary Mr. R. C. Whitwell and the Sports Committee. The Band of the King's Regiment entertained the proceedings with a fine programme.

H. E. the Governor was among the spectators, arriving in time to see the finish of the Marathon race, which was won by Balla Rawat (K.E.O. Green). He did very well in securing fifth place. The course was from Aberdeen Police Station via Wanchai, Hong Kong Road to the football ground, and back to the start.

The first man to enter the ring was a tall Indian named Mungai Singh, although he was obviously very much spent, and collapsed a few yards from the tape. His comrades helped him to his feet and he succeeded in finishing, but was disqualified for being helped. However, he was given a special prize by the Hon. Dr. Claud Severn and Dr. C. Forsyth.

The winner of the first prize was a sturdy Indian named Balla Rawat who finished very fresh about a minute after Mungai Singh and was given the first prize. Mungai Singh fainted after the race, and was removed to hospital.

G. A. Hyder won the 440 yards race for the third time in succession, and made the beautiful Challenge Cup his own property.

Waldemar Shuprieff, another pupil of St. Joseph's College won two of the three bicycle races in fine style, although hard pressed throughout.

The one mile ladies' bicycle race was won by Miss M. Williams in 4 mins. 23 secs. Miss M. Dillon was a good second.

At the conclusion, H. E. the Governor distributed the prizes and afterwards congratulated the Club members on their splendid afternoon's sports. His Excellency briefly referred to the excellent work done by the Hon. Secretary Mr. Whitwell, who, he said, that afternoon had added another success to the many with which he was already associated.

Checks for His Excellency, the Hon. Dr. Claud Severn (Chairman of the Club) and Mr. Whitwell brought the meeting to a close.

JUVENILE SPORTS.

NINTH ANNUAL MEETING.

The Juvenile Society's annual sports meeting was held at the Racecourse the same afternoon.

The meeting was arranged for the children of the Portuguese community, and no fewer than 122, ranging from 4 to 16 years of age, entered for the various events. A good gathering of parents were present to encourage their children, and the young ones had a great time. There were also several events for adults, including a ladies' nomination race which provided quite a lot of fun.

After the race, the Rt. Rev. Bishop Pozzoni, who was an interested spectator throughout the meeting, distributed the prizes.

Mr. D. C. Baptista, President of the Society, thanked the Bishop for distributing the prizes, and the various prize donors and subscribers to the prize fund for the beautiful array of trophies. He also specially thanked Messrs. A. J. V. Ribeiro and A. V. Barros for their valuable assistance in making the meeting a success.

SHIPPING ELEPHANTS.

AN EXCITING SINGAPORE ADVENTURE.

One of the most thrilling experiences I ever encountered with wild animals was on board a steamship and not in the jungle (says Mr. Charles Mayer in an interesting volume he has just published on wild animal collecting). I was under contract to send fifteen large elephants to Madras, and I had arranged with the company's agent at Singapore for three shipments of five each.

The first five elephants, together with attendants and food, were waiting at Tanjong Pagar, the docks at Singapore, to be put on board. At the last moment the chief officer came with the message that the captain refused to take them.

I went to the captain's cabin and found a stout, red-faced and apparently good-natured Englishman. He was just out of his bath, wearing pyjamas and idling about in his cabin until ship was ready to get under way. I thought it a good time to approach him, and I took care to be quite calm and cool about it, although I was raging inside.

I showed him my receipt and the bill of lading given me by the agent. He replied that the agent was not the captain of the ship; he didn't care what agreement the agent had made. So long as he was captain he'd run his ship to suit himself, and all agents could go to the devil, for all he cared. And, moreover, he'd not carry elephants—not for any one. I explained my position and told him that it would mean a great financial loss to me if I failed in my contract to deliver the elephants.

"Look here, 'Mayer,' he said, 'I've handled elephants at Calcutta and I've always had a lot of trouble with them. If I load the elephants it means that I have to rig up extra gear, and I won't do it.'

"Captain," I replied, "I'll load those elephants without using a foot of rope. I'll put them anywhere you say and you won't have to rig up a bit of gear. And I'll unload them at Madras in the same way. Will you say the word?"

CAPTAIN REFUSES EMBARKATION. "I don't think you can do it," he answered, "but I'm enough of a sportsman to give you a chance."

That was all I wanted. I got out before he could ask me how I was going to work, for I couldn't have told him.

The elephants were to go in the bow and they had to be taken there through a seven-foot passage from amidships. The smallest of the elephants measured fully seven feet and the largest more than eight. I decided that we might as well try the largest first, and I asked that the electric bulbs be removed from the ceiling.

After some coaxing and prodding, we got the first elephant up the gangplank. The others followed obediently. Then I asked the chief officer to clear the cabins along the passage, for I was afraid that someone might open a door and frighten the elephant. A frightened, stampeded eight-foot elephant in a seven-foot passage would give Singapore enough excitement to last for a year. The chief officer sent the people from the cabins and locked the doors.

The elephant balked at sight of the passage. I was at his head, talking to him and coaxing him, and two attendants were behind, prodding. We made him kneel and then urged him forward. At last we got him into the passage. It was a tight fit. His sides scraped the walls. I gasped at the thought of what would happen if he suddenly became afraid. He would try to stand up, of course, and then, wedged in he would begin to kick and lunge his way out; and the other four, who were close behind him, would do the same. "And then, good-bye steamship," I said to myself.

NOVEL WAY OF LANDING. Slowly we made our way forward, with the five elephants hobbling along on their knees. I stayed close to the head of the first, talking to him and patting him. Finally we came to the end of the passage, and I drew the first deep breath in fifteen minutes. I took the venture simply as a matter of course, and I didn't say anything that gave the captain an idea of what my emotions had been in that passage; but all looked at me and I looked at Alf, and there was no need of words.

I washed and went to the captain's cabin for breakfast, while the men secured the elephants in their quarters. The captain said, "Mayer, that was the quickest and slickest thing I've ever seen, but what am I going to do with those animals at Madras?"

I knew there were five elephants at Madras and that all freight was unloaded into lighters, but I answered "my men will attend to them."

When the ship reached Madras, the attendants opened the doors, and simply backed the elephants overboard. They hit the water with a great splash and a roar and came up blowing like whales. They were swimming, of course, for elephants swim better than any other land animals have ever seen. The attendants approached them in rowboats, and jumping on their backs, rode them to shore. By the time they reached land they had completely recovered from the excitement of falling overboard.

The captain returned to Singapore enthusiastic over this new way of handling elephants, and I had the pleasure of shipping my last consignment to Madras on his ship. He advised me never to take an agent's word for what the captain of a ship will or will not do, and after that experience I always saw the captain first and the agent second.

Tore up the stomach and this trouble quickly disappears as is shown by the experience of Mrs. Nettie Ainsworth, of No. 81 Elm street, Montpelier, Vt. This American lady says:

"I became run down through overwork and suffered a complete nervous breakdown. My stomach distressed me after meals and I was in misery from flatulency and gas. I tried about sleepless at night and was steadily losing strength and weight."

"A friend who had taken Dr. Williams' Pink Pills following an attack of pneumonia recommended the treatment to me and I decided to give the remedy a trial. I took seven bottles in all and was completely re-tooled to health. My nervousness disappeared and I now sleep well and eat without distress. I can speak highly of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for I owe my present health to them."

"THE BIG FOUR."

MR. LANSING ON THE PREMIER.

Mr. Robert Lansing, who was Secretary of State in President Wilson's Government and one of the United States delegates at Paris, in his new book, "The Big Four" (published by Hutchinson, 8s. 6d. net) gives a series of character sketches of leading personalities at the Peace Conference. Now and then his pen is touched with gall. Thus he says of M. Clemenceau's attitude:

He was at times so harsh and sarcastic in his language that his listeners felt incensed that he took an occasion when they were present to humiliate his subordinates.

Of Mr. Lloyd George he says: In some ways his attainments as a politician were not dissimilar to those of M. Clemenceau; though the latter appeared to be more constant and—to use a vulgar term—less shifty than his British colleague. But this unusual man possessed none of the arts of diplomacy. He was not by nature a negotiator.

Botha, whose death the whole Empire still laments, and General Smuts are specially praised for their patriotism "deeper and more earnest and more useful than the frothy type," and for their knowledge of realities and men. One point Mr. Lansing makes quite clear. It is that France and M. Clemenceau only accepted the League of Nations because they had been definitely promised the aid of Great Britain and the United States in the event of a fresh German attack.

We know what has become of that promise, and its non-fulfilment is the cause of France's anxiety to-day.

COLD-CURE SECRET.

BANKRUPT TOLD HE MUST DISCLOSE IT.

The liability of a bankrupt to disclose for the benefit of his creditors the formula of a secret process, was discussed in the London Bankruptcy Court. It was stated at the public examination of Mr. Irving Alexander Keene, a manufacturing chemist, of 52, Gray's Inn-road, W.C., and of the Broadway, New York, that his liabilities were £10,813 and assets £20,046.

In answer to Mr. E. W. Hansell, for the bankruptcy trustee, Mr. Keene said he was the proprietor of three secret preparations, including a corn cure and a cold cure.

Are you prepared to hand to the trustee the formula for these preparations?—At the moment I must decline.

The Registrar: If you refuse an application will probably be made to the judge to commit you to prison for contempt of court.

Mr. Keene said he could not disclose the secret until he had consulted his brother who was formerly his partner.

Mr. Keene added that at present the trustee in bankruptcy is employing him to mix these preparations at a salary of £5 a week. The trustee is making more money out of the business now than has been made for the last three years.

The examination was adjourned.
